About BrainCode Centers

BrainCode Centers is a company that specializes in Brain Mapping and Neurofeedback therapy. We use neurofeedback therapy in conjunction with a number of other research-based treatments to help clients take control of their symptoms and re-train their brain to operate the way it needs to. Everyday stress, mental health disorders, and brain injuries are just a few of the factors that can wreak havoc on your neural pathways. Brain mapping, the first step in the neurofeedback process, allows us to identify areas in the brain that are not functioning at their peak. We use this information to develop a customized neurofeedback treatment plan that features tailored protocols to strengthen those specific areas of the brain - just like you strengthen muscles in the gym. Our non-invasive approach to build awareness helps you lead your best life.
